

Ball State University's
Department of Educational Psychology &
Research Design Studio

Undergraduate Research Conference: Educational Implications of Psychology

Friday, October 16, 2015

BALL STATE UNIVERSITY®

The Department of Educational Psychology at Ball State University is pleased to announce the Educational Implications of Psychology Undergraduate Research Conference. This day long event is designed to showcase the undergraduate researcher in a professional setting. The goal of the conference is to provide a venue to share research, engage promising future scholars in discussions with experienced graduate students and faculty researchers, and support students as they polish their research skills.

In addition to sharing your research, the session will provide an opportunity to explore graduate school options in the region through our Graduate Program exchange space (graduate programs from around the region will be invited to share information on their programs).

Suggested topics:

Learning, Motivation, Development, Neuropsychology, Serving Special Populations, Assessment, Research Methods and Statistics

Applications for presentation will open June 1, 2015.

espace.bsu.edu/cte/rds/

Research Design Studio: An iStudio

